A WORK BOOK OF THE PRINTING HOUSE OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN AND DAVID HALL* 1759 — 1766

DESCRIBED BY GEORGE SIMPSON EDDY

IN July of last year the Library received as a gift from Mr. Edward S. Harkness the important manuscript "Work-Book No. 2" of Benjamin Franklin and David Hall, Philadelphia printers, for the period 1759–1766. In the same gift came a remarkable collection of Spanish manuscripts relating to the introduction of printing into South America. Before its acquisition for the Library by Mr. Harkness, this Franklin and Hall business record had been owned for some years by Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, who tells in such entertaining fashion, in Chapter V (pages 134–139) of "Books and Bidders" (Boston, 1927), how it came into his possession.

This Work-Book begins with an entry of August 2, 1759, and runs down to January 30, 1766. The partnership between Benjamin Franklin and David Hall began with the year 1748, and was terminated at the end of January, 1766. From the middle of 1757 to the middle of 1762, Franklin was in England, on business for the Province of Pennsylvania. He returned to Philadelphia in November of 1762 and remained in this country until November of 1764, when he again went over to England, where he stayed until the Spring of 1775. Thus, for the greater part of the period covered by this book, the printing business of the firm was conducted by Hall alone.

Most of the entries in this Work-Book are charges for advertisements published in the Pennsylvania Gazette, but, scattered through its pages are charges for various jobs of printing, some of which are of such historical or bibliographical importance that they deserve particular attention. The most notable of these

* The Library is greatly indebted to Mr. George Simpson Eddy for this illuminating article. He is so well-informed on all matters relating to Franklin that the Library naturally turned to him for a study of the Franklin and Hall office work book, soon after it was received by gift from Mr. Edward S. Harkness on July 15, 1929. — Editor.

A WORK BOOK OF THE PRINTING HOUSE OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN AND DAVID HALL* 1759 — 1766

This Work-Book begins with an entry of August 2, 1759, and runs down to January 30, 1766. The partnership between Benjamin Franklin and David Hall began with the year 1748, and was terminated at the end of January, 1766. relate to the printing of political papers of one kind or another, between November, 1762, and November, 1764, during which time Franklin was in America.

On the title-page of the book is written:

WORK-BOOK N° 2
FRANKLIN AND HALL
August 2, 1759

Query: Do the words "Work-Book N° 2" mean that this was the second book of the kind used by the firm since it began business in January of 1748, or do they mean that two Work-Books were opened on August 2, 1759, of which this was the second? It is not likely that one such book sufficed for the records of all jobs from the beginning of 1748 to August 2, 1759 — a period of more than eleven years. An examination of the issues of the Pennsylvania Gazette for a part of the time during which this book was in use, discloses that many more advertisements were published in the Gazette than were charged for in this account book. Even if we assume that some of these additional advertisements were prepaid, there still remain so many which were not charged here, that the writer is inclined to believe that two such books were used contemporaneously, beginning with August 2, 1759.

The more important entries will now be discussed in their chronological order.

Jan. 18 — PHILADELPHIA CONTRIBUTIONSHIP

for printing and paper of a thousand copies of their Deed of Settlement – – – – – – – – £8-0-0

Aug. 16 — for printing 500 policies on fine Demy Writing Paper at 20/ per 100 – – – – – – – – 5-0-0

The full name of the company for which this printing was done was The Philadelphia Contributionship for the Insurance of Houses from Loss by Fire. This company is still enjoying a prosperous existence, and its Secretary states that it possesses examples of both of the above imprints.

Nov. 6 — JAMES PEMBERTON for printing 5000 Yearly Epistles, 1 sheet, small folio [no amount stated]

This James Pemberton was a prominent Quaker of Philadelphia. Each Yearly Meeting of the Friends sent out an Epistle, addressed to the Quakers. While in business alone, Franklin had printed some of these Epistles, and, later, several of them were printed by Franklin and Hall. Hildeburn lists this particular Epistle, but does not say who printed it; Campbell does not list it. I have not been able to find an example.

1761

In this year Franklin and Hall printed Tickets and Blanks for the Wheels for the following Lotteries:

The Sixth Academy Lottery
The Seventh Academy Lottery
The Oxford Church Lottery
The Presbyterian Steeple Lottery
The Lancaster Presbyterian Church Lottery
The Conestogoe Bridge Lottery

Several Proclamations, in small quantities, were printed for the Province.

1762

Lottery Tickets were printed for the Lebanon Church Lottery, and for the Lottery for the benefit of St. Paul's Church, Chester. A good many official blank forms were printed for the Province.

1763

June 2 — PROVINCE OF PENNSYLVANIA

for printing a Proclamation forbidding all persons to settle on lands not purchased from the Indians – £2-10-0

For the text of this see Pennsylvania Colonial Records, IX, 27.

July 28 — PROVINCE OF PENNSYLVANIA

for printing 200 Proclamations for a Thanksgiving Day for Peace – – – – – – – – £2-10-0

This related to the Peace of Paris; the Proclamation is dated July 25th; the text thereof may be found in Pennsylvania Colonial Records, IX, 40.

Dec. 29 — PROVINCE OF PENNSYLVANIA

for printing a Proclamation for apprehending the Murderers of six Indians in Conestogoe Manor – – £2-10-0

This Proclamation was dated December 22; see Pennsylvania Colonial Records, IX, 95. During the year 1763 the western parts of Pennsylvania were ravaged by hostile Indians, and the inhabitants (mostly Scotch-Irish) were roused to fury. Close to the town of Lancaster lived a band of twenty Indians, the remnant of a once powerful tribe; they were harmless, and lived on good terms with their white neighbors. On December 14, 1763, a number of men, from the Scotch-Irish district of Paxton, surrounded the village in which these peaceful Indians had their home, and barbarously killed the six who happened to be there. Following this atrocity the local magistrates took the remaining fourteen Indians to Lancaster, where they were placed in the Work-house, for safety. Two weeks later the same band of "Paxton Boys" again appeared at Lancaster, broke into the Work-house, and cruelly murdered all of these Indians. For a very vivid description of these horrible doings, see Franklin's Narrative of the Late Massacres in Lancaster County (1764). Neither Hildeburn nor Campbell lists either of these Proclamations, and the writer has failed to discover examples thereof.

1764

Jan. 3 — Province of Pennsylvania for printing a Proclamation for apprehending the Murderers of fourteen Indians in Lancaster Work-house – – – – – – – – – £2-10-0

This Proclamation was issued by Governor Penn on January 2; it denounced the massacres of the Conestogoe Indians, and offered a reward for the arrest and conviction of the murderers. The text may be found in Pennsylvania Colonial Records, IX, 107, as well as in Franklin's Narrative of the Late Massacres. Hildeburn lists this Proclamation, but I cannot locate an example.

Jan. 20 — Mr. Israel Pemberton

for printing sixty copies of Governor Franklin's Protection to a parcel of Indians – – – – – £0-15-0

Jan. 20 — Mr. Israel Pemberton

for printing sixty copies of a Letter from Charles Read, Esq. to John Ladd, Esq., and others – – – £1-10-0

Israel Pemberton was a Philadelphia Quaker of wealth and prominence, who was friendly to the peaceful Indians, of whom there were many in the Province. Some 140 of these Indians — converts of the Moravians — fearing to suffer the fate of those at Lancaster, fled to Philadelphia, for refuge, accompanied by their Moravian pastor. Soon the "Paxton Boys" marched on the city, with the avowed intent of killing this small group of harmless savages, as they had murdered those at Lancaster; whereupon the Governor and Council decided to send these Indians to Sir William Johnson in the Province of New York. The Indians began their journey under military escort, and reached Amboy in safety, but there they were met by the refusal of Governor Colden to allow them to enter the Province of New York. Thereupon they were brought back, under guard, to Philadelphia.

During all this time Israel Pemberton had been doing everything within his power to aid and protect these Indians. The result of his kindly activities was that he was subjected to many scurrilous attacks in pamphlets and in caricatures. He was nicknamed "King Wampum."

I have not been able to locate an example of the above Letter from Read to Ladd; nor can I find one of the Protection issued by Governor Franklin, and I have not succeeded in finding a record of the text of the Protection.

The Letter from Read to Ladd was printed in three editions by Andrew Steuart of Philadelphia, during the year 1764, but it is likely that Steuart simply copied from the edition printed by Franklin and Hall for Pemberton, as the Letter was dated January 7, 1764, and came from Franklin's press at some date prior to January 20th of that year. I have not found any record of the date of the earliest edition printed by Steuart, but I feel confident that the sixty copies printed by Franklin and Hall were the true first edition. It is probable that Israel Pemberton distributed those 60 copies and the 60 copies of Governor Franklin's Protection, where they would be apt to do the most good.

Charles Read was a leading lawyer of Burlington, New Jersey; he was a member of the Provincial Council, and a Justice of the Supreme Court of the Province, and, apparently, was also Secretary to the Governor or to the Council. His Letter was addressed to the Hon. John Ladd, Esq., and his Associates, Justices of the Peace in the County of Gloucester (New Jersey), and began as follows:

> Gentlemen:
> Some persons of good character at Philadelphia having applied to his Excellency, the Governor, for his Licence for some Indians, who have always been in the English interest, to reside in your Town, he has been pleased to grant his Licence and the Protection of this Government, by his Order of this day, directed to all Officers and Military.

Then followed a criticism of the late outrages at Lancaster, together with a spirited defense of the peaceful Indians. Read's Letter brought forth a sharp answer by somebody living at Elizabeth-Town, New Jersey, who signed his pamphlet with the initials W. P.; this answer was printed at Philadelphia by Andrew Steuart.

John Ladd, besides being a Justice of the Peace, was a member of the Council of the Province of New Jersey.

On February 16, 1764, Governor Franklin, in a speech before the Council, said:

> I think it proper at this time to mention to you that some people in Pennsylvania having, contrary to the common principles of humanity, murdered in cool blood a number of friendly Indians who had long lived peaceably among the inhabitants of that Province, in the manner that the Indians at Brotherton have resided among us; and having also, in contempt of the Government, which had taken them under its protection, threatened the destruction of other Indians remaining there, tho' they had given the strongest proofs of their attachment to the British Nation, I did, at the request of Governor Penn, grant a passport for their safe conduct through this Province, in their way to Sir William Johnson. They proceeded as far as Amboy, but being refused a passage through the government of New York, they are since returned to Philadelphia. A small number of them, who were well recommended to me, are, with my permission, placed near Woodbury, I having received assurances that the Township will be put to no charge for their support; the principal inhabitants there having given them a friendly reception . . .

Woodbury was a small town in Gloucester County, New Jersey, only a few miles distant from Philadelphia. Let us hope that this article may aid in the discovery of examples of these two imprints.

And now we come to three entries of great importance:

1764

March 31 — Benjamin Franklin

for printing 100 copies of a Petition to his Majesty, on fine Writing Paper – – – – – – – – – £1- 2-6 100 sheets stiff blue paper and 200 brown do for stitching them up in – – – – – 12-0

April 18 — for printing 200 copies of a Petition to his Majesty, on Writing Paper – – – – 1- 5-0
200 Sheets stiff paper and 400 brown do for stitching them up in – – – – – – – 1- 4-0

April 12 — Province of Pennsylvania for Explanatory Remarks of the Assembly's Resolves, 3000 copies – – – – – – 8- 0-0 for 3000 copies of the Assembly's Proceedings on the Supply Bill – – – – 6- 5-0

During some years prior to 1764, very many citizens of Pennsylvania had become more and more dissatisfied with the government of that Province; and in 1764 matters came to a head. A volume might be written upon this subject, but we must content ourselves with a brief statement of the facts. Franklin and Joseph Galloway were the chief proponents of a change of government from that by the Penns to that by the Crown. John Dickinson was the most prominent of the citizens who were opposed to this movement. He delivered a speech on May 24, 1764, which was printed and widely circulated, and to which there was a Preface by the Rev. William Smith. Galloway published a reply to this speech by Dickinson, for which reply Franklin wrote a superb Preface, which is one of his finest political papers.

I cannot do better than to quote from that celebrated Preface, in which Franklin said:

> Under these circumstances, and a conviction that while so many natural sources of difference subsisted between Proprietaries and People, no harmony in Government could long subsist, without which, neither the commands of the Crown could be executed, nor the public good promoted; the House resumed the consideration of a measure that had often been proposed in former Assemblies; a measure that every Proprietary Province in America had, from the same causes, found themselves obliged to take, and had actually taken or were about to take; and a measure that had happily succeeded wherever it was taken; I mean the recourse to an immediate Royal Government.
>
> They therefore, after a thorough debate, and making no less than twenty-five unanimous Resolves, expressing the many grievances this Province had long labored under, thro' the Proprietary Government, came to the following Resolution, viz. "Resolved, nemine contradicente, that this House will adjourn, in order to consult their constituents, whether an humble Address should be drawn up and transmitted to his Majesty, praying that he would be graciously pleased to take the People of this Province under his immediate protection and government, by compleating the Agreement heretofore made with the first Proprietary for the sale of the Government to the Crown, or otherwise as to his wisdom and goodness shall seem meet." This they ordered to be made public, and it was published accordingly in all the newspapers; the House then adjourned for no less than seven weeks, to give their constituents time to consider the matter, and themselves an opportunity of taking their opinion and advice . . . During this recess, the people in many places, held little meetings with each other; the result of which was, that they would manifest their sentiments to their Representatives, by petitioning the Crown directly of themselves, and requesting the Assembly to transmit and support those Petitions. At the next meeting many of these petitions were delivered to the House with that request; they were signed by a very great number of the most substantial inhabitants, and not the least intimation was received by the Assembly from any of their constituents, that the measure was disapproved, except in a petition from an obscure Township in Lancaster County, to which there were about forty names, indeed, but all evidently signed by three hands only.
> What could the Assembly infer from this expressed willingness of a part, and silence of the rest, but that the measure was universally agreeable? They accordingly resumed the consideration of it, and tho'

> a small, very small opposition then appeared to it in the House, yet as even that was founded, not on the impropriety of the thing, but on the supposed unsuitableness of the time, or the manner; and a majority of nine-tenths being still for it, a petition was drawn agreeable to the former Resolve, and ordered to be transmitted to his Majesty.

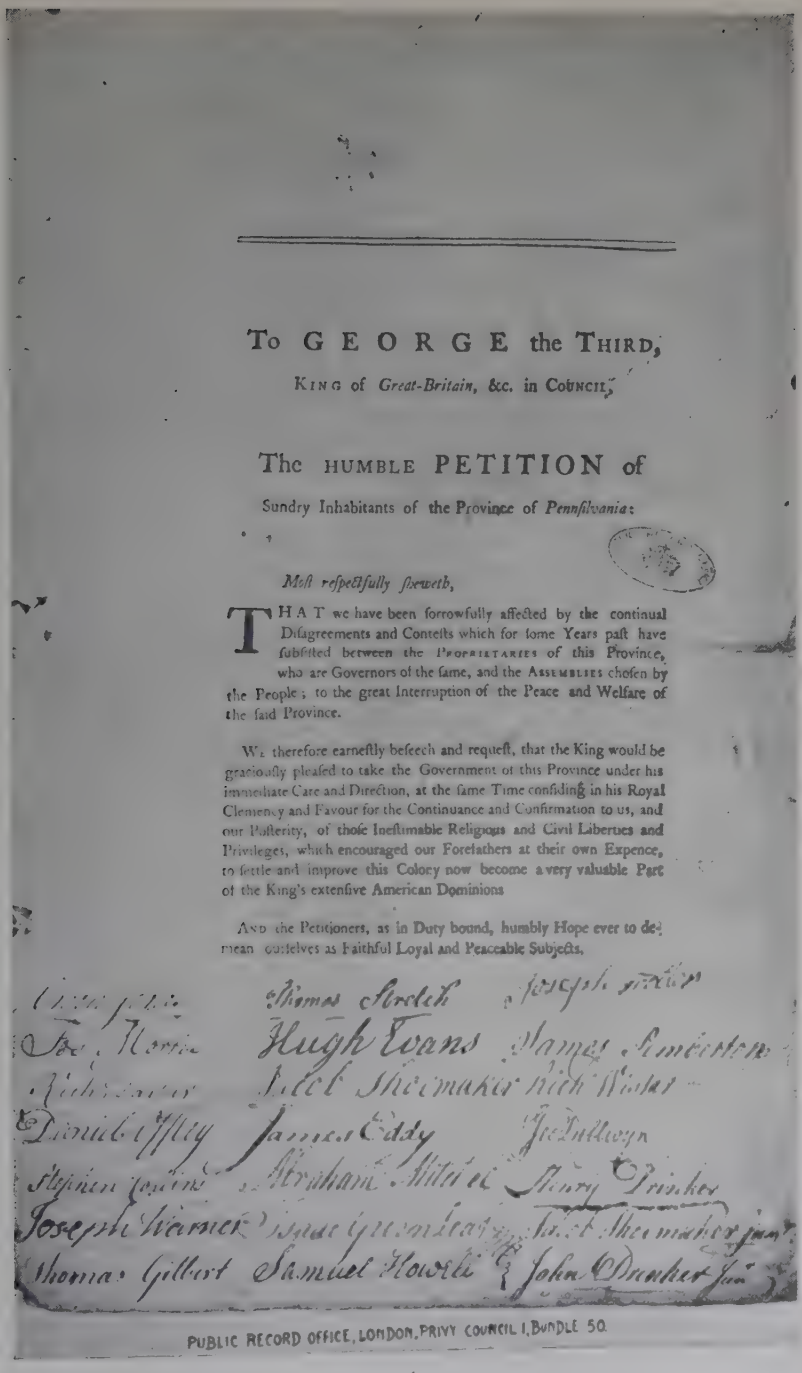
[For the text of Dickinson's Speech and of the Preface thereto by Rev. William Smith, see The Writings of John Dickinson, edited by Paul Leicester Ford, 1895; and for Franklin's Preface to the Speech of Galloway, see Smyth's Writings of Franklin, IV, 315–358.]

An examination of the Votes and Proceedings of the Assembly (hereinafter referred to as the Votes), discloses some interesting facts that have particular application to the present discussion.

On March 24, 1764, the aforesaid 25 Resolutions were agreed to, and were ordered to be published. On the same day the Assembly adjourned to May 14th, at which time it reconvened. We learn from the Votes that on May 18th "a petition to his Majesty, signed by upwards of 1500 inhabitants of this Province, was presented to the House, with a verbal request by the Member who brought them in, that the same be transmitted by their Representatives to the Crown; and the said petition being read, follows in these words, viz": [the text given in the Votes is identical with that of the signed petition, a reproduction of which we print here; the original from which this reproduction has been made is in the files of the Privy Council.] On the same day "a petition of the same tenor with the foregoing, signed only by the Society in this Province called Quakers, was also presented to the House, with a like request that the same be transmitted by their Representatives to the King in Council, which said petition was read by order, and follows in these words, viz": [we reproduce an example of this petition, from the original in the files of the Privy Council; it is to be observed that the phraseology thereof differs somewhat from that of the other petition mentioned above.]

The Votes record that, on May 23 "further petitions to his Majesty, of the same kind with those presented on the eighteenth instant, were this day laid before the House from the Counties of Bucks, Lancaster and Northampton, by their respective Members, and the same being read by order, it was moved that the Question be put, Whether a Committee shall now be appointed to prepare and bring in a draught of a petition from this House, to accompany the aforementioned petitions to his Majesty for a change of government of this Province? And the said Question being put by Mr. Speaker accordingly, the same was resolved in the Affirmative, by a great majority."

Thereupon it was "Ordered, that Mr. Galloway, Mr. Franklin, Mr. Chapman, Mr. Pearson, Mr. Douglass, Mr. Montgomery, Mr. Ross and Mr. Tool be a Committee to draw up and bring in a Petition to his Majesty for the purpose aforesaid."



To GEORGE the THIRD,

KING of Great-Britain, &c. in COUNCIL.

The HUMBLE PETITION of

Sundry Inhabitants of the Province of Pennſilvania:

Moſt reſpectfully ſheweth,

THAT we have been ſorrowfully affected by the continual Diſagreements and Conteſts which for ſome Years paſt have ſubſiſted between the PROPRIETARIES of this Province, who are Governors of the ſame, and the ASSEMBLIES choſen by the People; to the great Interruption of the Peace and Welfare of the ſaid Province.

WE therefore earneſtly beſeech and requeſt, that the King would be graciouſly pleaſed to take the Government of this Province under his immediate Care and Direction, at the ſame Time confiding in his Royal Clemency and Favour for the Continuance and Confirmation to us, and our Poſterity, of thoſe Ineſtimable Religious and Civil Liberties and Privileges, which encouraged our Forefathers at their own Expence, to ſettle and improve this Colony now become a very valuable Part of the King's extenſive American Dominions

AND the Petitioners, as in Duty bound, humbly Hope ever to demean ourſelves as Faithful Loyal and Peaceable Subjects.

To the Kings most excellent Majesty in Council.
The Petition of the Representatives of the Freemen of the Province of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met
Signed by order of the House
PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE, LONDON PRIVY COUNCIL, BUNDLE 58

5

Petition of the Representatives of the Freemen of the Province of Pennsylvania (1764). Signed by Franklin as Speaker. From the original in the files of the Privy Council, Public Record Office, London.

On the afternoon of the same day the said Committee presented a draft of a Petition, which was read and then ordered to lie on the table for the perusal of the Members. On May 24th "further Petitions to his Majesty for a change of government, from the inhabitants of Philadelphia and Chester County, were presented to the House and read."

On May 25th the Petition of the House to the King was again considered and debated, and, after some alterations, was agreed to by a great majority, and was ordered to be transcribed. Whereupon the Speaker, Isaac Norris, resigned the Speakership, and Franklin was at once unanimously chosen in his place.

On May 26th the House met again, with Franklin in the Speaker's chair; the Votes record that "the Petition of the Representatives to his Majesty for a change of government being transcribed, according to order, was again read, and the Question being then put, Whether the said Petition shall be signed by the Speaker, in order that the same be transmitted to the Crown? Resolved in the Affirmative by a great majority; whereupon the said Petition was signed by the Speaker accordingly."

On May 28th the House "ordered that the Committee of Correspondence do, when they transmit to our Agent the Petition of this House, and the other Petitions to the Crown, write particularly to him, that the House desire this application may be proceeded in with the utmost caution for securing to the inhabitants, under a Royal Government, all those privileges, civil and religious, which by their Charters and Laws, they have a right to enjoy under the present Constitution; and acquaint him withal, that if, upon the most careful enquiry, and mature deliberation and advice, he should see cause to apprehend that, in the change proposed, there is danger of our losing those inestimable privileges, he is, in that case, positively directed and enjoined to suspend the presenting the said petitions, till he has acquainted the Assembly with the reasons, and received their further direction; and the said Committee are hereby required to lay a minute account of their proceedings before the Assembly at their next meeting."

On May 30th the House adjourned to September 10th. The various petitions above mentioned were duly sent over to Richard Jackson, the Provincial Agent at London; they were not submitted to the King in Council until November 4th, 1765, when they were filed with the Privy Council, accompanied by a petition, signed by both Jackson and Franklin, asking that the several petitions might be presented as one petition only. It is to be remembered that Franklin had again been sent to London to represent the Province there, and that he had arrived in December of 1764. On November 22, 1765, the Privy Council ordered that consideration of the petitions should be postponed for the present. No further action was ever taken with regard to them.

To-day the files of the Privy Council contain 23 examples of the petition for a change of government, printed in English, and signed chiefly by others than Quakers; 8 examples of the petition in English, used by Quakers; and 2 examples of a petition in the German language, bearing numerous signatures. We have reproduced these two classes of petitions in English, but the petitions printed in German are not in a condition to permit of satisfactory reproduction.

According to the Work-Book of Franklin and Hall, they printed 100 copies of a Petition to the King for a change of government, at the end of March, 1764, and in the following month they printed 200 copies of a Petition to the King; Query: Were these two lots identical, or did they differ? If they differed, it is probable that one lot was intended for use by the Quakers, and that the other was to be used by non-Quakers who could read English. As to the petitions which were printed in German, I am inclined to believe that they were printed by Armbruster, although I must admit that I am indulging in conjecture. None of these petitions bears any imprint.

For some reason of political strategy, the text of the Petition of the Representatives to the King in Council was not made public, and we find that Dickinson and his party complained that they had not been able to procure a copy of it. Both Bigelow and Smyth printed what they believed to be the exact text of that petition; they copied from a draft in Franklin's hand, which is in the Library of Congress. [See Bigelow's Letter Press edition of the Works of Franklin, III, 303, and Smyth's Writings of Franklin, IV, 314.] Both of those editors seem to have assumed that the draft in the Library of Congress contained the final form of that petition, in spite of the fact that the manuscript is plainly a rough draft. Long experience has taught me that Franklin often made several drafts of any public document drawn up by him, and that it is not safe to assume that the finished product of his pen was exactly like the rough draft. I therefore caused a photostat to be made of the Petition of the House, which was signed by Franklin as Speaker, and which was filed with the Privy Council. From that photostat it appears that there are several differences between the Petition as signed and the rough draft. These differences are not very material. This Petition in its final form is reproduced herewith.

As to the 25 Resolutions of the Assembly, adopted on March 24, 1764 (supra), they appeared in the Pennsylvania Gazette of March 29, 1764 (No. 1840); in April of 1764 Franklin and Hall printed 3000 copies of Explanatory Remarks on the Assembly's Resolves, Published in the Pennsylvania Gazette, No. 1840. This broadside is the imprint which was charged for in the above entry in the Work-Book we are studying. The University of Pennsylvania owns the only example of this broadside that I have been able to find.

As to the 3000 copies of the Assembly's Proceedings on the Supply Bill, I may say that I have not been able to locate a single example thereof. However, the report of those proceedings is to be found in the printed Votes, and also in the Pennsylvania Gazette.

Franklin's powerful and influential pamphlet, Cool Thoughts on the Present Situation of Our Public Affairs, which was printed in April of 1764, by W. Dunlap, contains an admirable discussion of the reasons in favor of a change of government in Pennsylvania.

The page of the Work-Book containing this entry is here reproduced (Plate 6).

Thomas Ringold was a prominent merchant of Chester-Town, Maryland, who had been a member of the Lower House of Assembly of that Province, in 1762, He and Franklin had long been acquainted. This is not the appropriate place to enter into a full discussion of the above Remarks Upon a Message. Mr. Lawrence C. Wroth, the scholarly librarian of the John Carter Brown Library, has given the subject some study, and it is to be hoped that he will eventually write a monograph thereon. There has been much curiosity as to the authorship; the foregoing entries in the Work-Book of Franklin and Hall do not prove that Thomas Ringold was the author, but do prove that the pamphlet was printed by Franklin's establishment. It is easy to understand why it was not printed within the limits of Maryland. It was an attack upon the Proprietary Government of Maryland, and Governor Sharpe and Lord Calvert were much disturbed by its publication. Sharpe reported that it was generally thought that it was written by James Tilghman, in collaboration with Daniel Dulaney; Sharpe himself suspected Franklin of having had a share in the authorship; his suspicion being based upon his certainty that the pamphlet had been printed by Franklin and Hall, and upon a fancied resemblance between its literary style and that of Franklin's Cool Thoughts, which had been published in April of 1764. A careful study of the style of these Remarks leads me to believe that Franklin was not the author thereof, although he may have offered some suggestions during its preparation. His own activities in the controversy between the Assembly of Pennsylvania and the Penns, would incline him to give aid and comfort to those attacking the Proprietary Government of the neighboring Province of Maryland.

Remarks Upon a Message is a pamphlet of 71 pages; the name of the printer and the place of publication are not shown. Evans (evidently following Sabin) says that it was printed in the year 1763, but he does not refer to an example. Neither Hildeburn nor Campbell lists this imprint. The New York Public Library owns a copy (acquired in 1915), wherein the date as originally printed was plainly MDCCLXIV; but at some time, probably long before 1915, the date was changed with pen and ink to MDCCLXIII. This change was perhaps made upon the authority of Sabin. Nothing is known as to when this change was made and we are equally ignorant of the identity of the person who made it. The Historical Society of Pennsylvania owns two examples of this rare imprint; one of these was once the property of Dr. Franklin; the other is a beautiful, clean and untrimmed copy. I may add that Mr. Wroth, to whom I am indebted for much valuable information regarding these Remarks, says that other examples are owned by the Maryland Diocesan Library and by the Maryland Historical Society. No example known to me bears the date 1763 save that in the possession of The New York Public Library, and in that copy the date has been changed by hand. It is possible, although not probable, that two editions were printed — one in 1763 and the other in 1764. We shall all be glad if Mr. Wroth will pursue this interesting subject further. With the kind permission of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania we reproduce the title-page of the better of the two examples owned by it.

Hildeburn (2161) describes the advertisement printed for the Commissioners for Paving the Streets on March 22, 1765, and says that the Library Company of Philadelphia owns an example; another example is in a private collection.

I do not know what the Way Bills were like, not having been able to find one of them. At the date of the above charge Franklin and John Foxcroft were Deputy Postmasters-General.

This is a well-known imprint; although not charged until 1765, the book was probably printed in 1764, as it bears the latter date.

The title of this was: Anti-Paedo-Rantism Defended, and the author was Abel Morgan. See Hildeburn (1186). An example is owned by the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, and another is in a private collection. This is a 16mo of 230 pages.

for a Proclamation opening a trade with the Indians (200 copies) – – – – – – – – – £2-10-0

For the text of this see Pennsylvania Colonial Records, IX, 264; Campbell lists this imprint but Hildeburn does not. The only example known to me is in a private collection.

Oct. 3 — JOSEPH GALLOWAY, ESQ.

for printing 1000 copies of Governor Franklin's Answer to some Charges against him, &c. – – – – £2-5-0

Hildeburn (2125) describes this as a folio of one leaf. The only example known to me is that owned by the Library Company of Philadelphia. The text of this Answer was also published in the Pennsylvania Gazette of October 3, 1765.

Dec. 10 — JOHN DICKINSON, ESQ.

for printing 2000 copies of An Address to the Inhabitants of Pennsylvania – – – – – – £3-5-0

This is a most interesting item. It is a pity that it does not give the title of the imprint with greater precision. The late Paul Leicester Ford, in the edition of the Writings of John Dickinson which he edited for the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, in 1895, said (page 199): "a bill of Franklin and Hall to Dickinson, contains the item: 1765, Decr. 10. To printing 200 copies of an Address to the Inhabitants of Pennsylvania . . . £3-5." Ford said that "unless we refer the charge to an absolutely unknown piece" it must relate to the broadside beginning "Friends and Countrymen, the Critical Time is now come," a folio of two pages. Hildeburn (2117) attributes this to the press of Bradford. It is to be noted that the Work-Book under consideration states that 2000 copies were printed for Dickinson by Franklin and Hall, while the bill mentioned by Ford (which cannot now be found) charged for only 200 copies. A charge of £3-5-0 for printing 2000 copies of a folio of two pages, seems absurdly low, and altogether out of line with charges for similar jobs of about the same date. On the other hand, that price seems high for only 200 copies. It is a curious fact that this was printed by Franklin and Hall, because, owing to political differences, the relations between Dickinson and Franklin were at this time very strained. Bradford was the printer to the Proprietary party, and why this imprint came from the press of Franklin and Hall is something of a puzzle. Of course, when this printing was done, Dr. Franklin was in London. Hall seems to have been on rather friendly terms with the Proprietary party — in fact William Franklin complained to his father about Hall on that account. As the partnership between Franklin and David Hall was just about to terminate, Hall may have felt free to print for whom he pleased, in spite of the fact that the partnership had still a few weeks to run. Campbell does not list this as an imprint of Franklin and Hall. The Historical Society of Pennsylvania owns an example.

Dec. 20 — JOSEPH GALLOWAY, ESQ.

for printing 400 copies of his Vindication relating to opening the Publick Offices – – – – – £1-15-0

This is a folio broadside of one page. An example is owned by the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, another is in the hands of the Library Company of Philadelphia.

1766

Jan. 30 — JOHN BELL

for printing 200 copies of a Funeral Sermon on the death of Mr. James Louttit – – – – – £2-15-0

This imprint is not listed by either Hildeburn or Evans, but is described by Campbell (710). An example is owned by the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. The author was the Rev. William Barroll. The title is: A Sermon Preached at St. Stephen's Church at the Funeral of Mr. James Louttit. In the Pennsylvania Gazette of December 5, 1765, was a notice, dated "Cecil County, Maryland, November 23, 1765," announcing the death of James Louttit on November 20th.

After the above entry follows this memorandum:

"Examined 1st February, 1766."

which doubtless refers to the final examination of the account books of the firm of Franklin and Hall, made by James Parker, on behalf of Franklin.

At the end of this Work-Book are a few entries made during the years 1782 to 1789, inclusive; these being charges for the printing of permits, certificates, etc. These entries probably represent a few of the jobs done by the firm of Hall and Sellers; they have nothing to do with Franklin and Hall.

On the last page but one of this very interesting book is this entry:

August 6 Lent Mr. Andrew Stuart ten reams Pro Patria printing paper, to be returned a Month hence."

We should like to know more about this particular lot of paper. For what purpose was it used and where? One Andrew Steuart, a printer, came to Philadelphia from Ireland, in 1758, according to Isaiah Thomas. At some time during the year 1764 he removed to Wilmington, North Carolina, taking with him a press and a part of his types, and leaving his Philadelphia shop in the care of Thomas Macgee and Joseph Crukshank. The business at Philadelphia was continued in his name until his death in 1769. Steuart seems to have remained at Wilmington continuously, after leaving Philadelphia in 1764. During the year 1765 several books or pamphlets were printed at Philadelphia which bore his imprint. In the same year he printed at Wilmington, North Carolina, a political pamphlet by Maurice Moore and the North Carolina Gazette and Weekly Post-Boy. Were the ten reams of paper used at Philadelphia or at Wilmington? The Work-Book is silent as to whether this loan of paper was ever repaid.

All scholars owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Edward S. Harkness for his presentation of this very valuable and interesting Work-Book of Franklin and Hall to The New York Public Library. Let us hope that his generous gift will be duly appreciated by all who may benefit thereby.

NEWS OF THE MONTH

GIFTS

GIFTS during the month of July, 1930, numbered 3,008 volumes, 13,947 pamphlets, 24 maps, and 84 prints. The list of principal donors is given elsewhere in this issue of the Bulletin, only a few of the many interesting and important items being noted here.

Mr. Charles B. Nettleton, Dayton, Ohio, gave the Library a pen-and-ink drawing of Bents' Fort, a once famous landmark on The Old Santa Fé Trail. This drawing was made by Mr. Nettleton from his original pencil sketch (in the Dayton Museum) done while roughing it over the Trail in the year 1868.

From the Countess Wilhelmina von Hallwyl, Stockholm, Sweden, came, in continuation of previous gifts, four more volumes of the Hallwylska Samlingen, Stockholm, 1928, 1930. From Miss Mabel Parsons, New York, came 250 copies of Memories of Samuel Parsons . . . Edited by Mabel Parsons, New York, 1926. From the Agent General for Reparation Payment, Reparations Commission, Berlin, came 47 volumes of reports of the Commission. The Rev. Dr. W. T. Rainsford, Ridgefield, Connecticut, gave five bound volumes of the Year Book of St. George's Church, Stuyvesant Square, New York, covering the period 1884–1906.

Mr. John M'Lure Hamilton, Jamaica, British West Indies, gave six of his lithographs of Gladstone, including one colored impression. From Mr. Wilbur Macey Stone, New York City, came a collection of prints, comprising 12 linoleum cuts, 19 German engravings, and 3 other prints.

From Mrs. Ludwig Birseck, Astoria, New York, came a miscellaneous collection including seven music scores, and histories of German American singing societies of New York and vicinity. Mrs. Robinson (Mabel Dunham) Locke, Brookline, Massachusetts, gave 337 theatre programs, to be added to the Robinson Locke Collection. From Mr. Harry W. Mack, New York, came five volumes of War Trade Board Rulings, being a complete set from June 22, 1917, to December 23, 1918. From Mrs. Otto Ohrt, Weehawken, New Jersey, came 104 volumes, 45 pamphlets, and 30 periodicals.

ADDITIONS AND USE OF THE LIBRARY DURING JULY, 1930

DURING the month of July, 1930, there were received at the Library 23,712 volumes and 14,853 pamphlets. (These include the additions to both Reference and Circulation Departments.) The number of volumes issued for home use by the Circulation Department was 763,482.

The total number of recorded readers in the Reference Department, Central Building, was 152,202, no record being kept of the use of books on the open reference shelves. The estimated number of readers and visitors at the Central Building was 292,000 — arrived at by adding 15 per cent to the incomplete count made by the doormen (253,589).
